Affordable high quality product photography digitally imaged for web and print

PHOTOCOMASIA's long experience in conventional product photography combined with a cost-effective digital capability ensures minimal turnaround time to provide studio quality product imaging for all promotional formats.

Review and delivery

Once photography and digital imaging are completed, PHOTOCOMASIA can display finished images on-line for the client's review and approval.

Resolutions are suitable for a variety of presentation options, such as high resolution for printing and low resolution for web pages to be fast loading.
